This course provides a historical survey of Canadian writing from its origins up to the work of living writers. The course introduces students to some of the major authors in Canada, as well as to significant critical and cultural ideas that have developed about this nation's literature.

Texts

Donna Bennett, Russell Brown eds. An Anthology of Canadian Literature in English 3rd ed. Oxford UP
Karen Hines, Drama: Pilot Episode. Coach House Books

Assignments

1. mid-term test 20%
2. Essay #1 25%
3. Essay #2 30%
4. examination scheduled by the Registrar in the period defined in University Calendar 25%

All assignments must be submitted to receive a passing grade in this course. Assignments submitted after the deadline may be penalized with the loss of a third of a grade (eg. A- to B+) for each business day they are overdue. Topics for assignments will be distributed in advance, and the nature of each assignment will be explained in class. Any student requiring further assistance in planning or writing essays should consult with the instructor during office hours. Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period.

Students should hand essays and term work directly to their instructors, and a copy of their work should be kept in case of loss. Although essays may be dropped off at the dropbox in the Dept. of English Office, students should check with instructors that they have been received. Essays cannot be accepted via e-mail and cannot normally be resubmitted for higher grades. Assignments cannot be returned by staff in the Department office.

The University of Calgary's official grading system is used in this course:

A+/A (4.0), A- (3.7), B+ (3.3), B (3.0), B- (2.7), C+ (2.3), C (2.0), C- (1.7), D+ (1.3), D (1.0), F (0)

For greater precision I also use split grades for assignments:

A+ (4.3), A/A- (3.85), A-/B+ (3.5), B+/B (3.15), B/B- (2.85), B-/C+ (2.5), C/C+ (2.15), C/C- (1.85), C-/D+ (1.5), D/D+ (1.15)

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:
  - (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
  - (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
  - (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
  - (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>)

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . . , to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.”

This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
