ENGLISH 201.14  Fall 2017
COURSE TITLE: Approaches to Literature
Mon/Wed 14:00 – 15:15, Room: SS 109

Instructor: Dr. J. McKenney
Office: SS1030
Phone: 403-220-6371
E-mail: mckennej@ucalgary.ca
Office hours: Mondays 1-2

Course Description:

ENGL 201 is an introduction to how we read, write about, and discuss literature in a university setting. In this section, students will read a variety of short stories and contemporary non-fiction essays that inspire us to contemplate how literary works reflect who we are, where we come from, and the best and worst we can be. We will ask and answer the question: Why does literature matter today? As talking and writing about literature will be central to the course, students can expect to review the fundamentals of clear expression.

Texts and readings:

The Broadview Introduction to Literature: Short Fiction
Additional Texts Available on D2L or online (may include the following):
Alice Munro, “Child’s Play”
Alex Tizon, “My Family’s Slave,” The Atlantic
David Foster Wallace, “Consider the Lobster,” Gourmet
Jon Krakauer, “Death of an Innocent,” Outside
Oliver Sacks, “My Periodic Table,” New York Times

Course Web Page:

Desire2 Learn, the University of Calgary’s official learning management system, is accessible through the myUofC web portal. The website will have some of our readings, the grade book, and some useful web links. Students are responsible for checking the D2L website regularly for updates.
Assignments and Evaluation:
Library Skills Assignment: Credit/No Credit
Assessing Sources Assignment: Credit/No Credit
Documenting Sources Assignment: Credit/No Credit
In-class Close Reading, Assignment Pre-circulated—(350 words): 15%
Using Evidence Assignment (650 words): 20%
Thesis Statement/Paper Proposal: (75 words): 5%

Final Exam: 30%

Note: This course includes a Registrar-Scheduled Exam. All students are expected to be available for exams throughout the examination period: 11-21 December, 2017.

Qualifying for a Passing Grade: All students must complete the following credit/no credit assignments to qualify for passing grade in the class: 1) Library Skills Assignment 2) Assessing Sources Assignment; and 3) Documenting Sources Assignment. Students must also sit the final exam in order to qualify for a passing grade in this class.

Submission of Assignments:

All work (written and otherwise) is due in hard copy at the START of lecture on the assignment due date. If you cannot be in class, please make arrangements to hand in your assignment early. Please note that electronic submissions will not be accepted, even as proof of completion, unless electronic submission is required in the assignment details.

Alternately, you may take your assignments to SS1152 and place it in the drop-box before the due date. Your assignment will then be date-stamped and placed in your instructor's mailbox. Please keep a copy of your assignment in case of loss by any cause. Assignments cannot be returned by staff in the Department office.

No extensions will be granted for course work except in cases of illness or personal distress. Late assignments will be penalized 1/3 of a letter grade for each business day late. No assignments will be accepted three business days past the due date. Computer or printer malfunctions are not exceptions to the submission policy, so please plan accordingly.

All assignments for this course are subject to an additional oral examination at the instructor's discretion.

Grading system:

The University of Calgary's four-point Grading System, as described in the Calendar; (http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f2.html) will be used in this course.

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.
Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

Reaching Me:

Academics are usually best reached by email. Students can expect to receive replies to email enquiries within 24 hours during the business week and 48 hours over the weekend. Please note that your instructors may not respond to email after 5 p.m. or on the weekend. I also cannot guarantee that you will receive email replies within 48 hours of assignment due dates. Students should remember, also, that email is not a substitute for attending class or using regular office hours. Missed assignments will not be sent over email, nor should email be used to ask questions otherwise answered in class or on the course outline. Students are responsible for gathering their own notes on missed classes. I will not conduct tutorials by email. If you have not received a response to your email within the timelines specified above, consider whether your message lacks a clear question or the polish and politeness of a professional letter. If it passes muster, please don’t be shy about sending it again.

Classroom Etiquette Notes:

☞ We all have busy and social lives. For the duration of class, however, your social and intellectual life should exist solely in the classroom. All electronic devices should be turned to silent as a courtesy both to the instructor and your peers. Laptops may be used to take notes, but students should refrain from playing games, surfing, or updating social media while in class. If you have special circumstances that require you to monitor your phone in silent mode, please notify the instructor and excuse yourself from the classroom when you have to take calls or respond to texts.

☞ This course is scheduled for one hour and fifteen minutes twice a week. Please schedule appointments and work shifts outside of class hours.

☞ Video and/or audio recording of lecture or discussion is prohibited without the permission of the instructor. Visual material from lecture will not posted or otherwise distributed.

☞ University is a place where people of varying backgrounds and views come together in mutual respect to discover and learn. In this introductory course, we will practice civility and respect in all interactions with one another. Literature, on the other hand, is not always polite. While course texts have been selected carefully on the basis of historic, generic, intellectual, and aesthetic significance, some of the texts may challenge your ways of thinking and standards of decorum and students should be prepared to encounter mature content and ideas. It is advised that students review the course reading schedule in the first week of class and discuss concerns with the instructor before the drop date.

☞ My goal is to create an intellectually stimulating classroom where all people feel respected and safe to test new ideas. If, at any time, you have concerns about the classroom environment please make an appointment with the instructor. Students who have preferred names or forms of address (including non-gendered pronouns) are welcome to bring this to the attention of the instructor.
Plagiarism:
Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:
   (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
   (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
   (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
   (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html
“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, …, to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
