Fall 2013

Office: SS 1137

Office hours: Monday 15:00-16:00 and by appointment.

Course description:

This course is a critical examination of the short fiction genre. Students in this course will engage with short stories in several different forms, from standalone stories to sections of works that defy traditional definition. What sets the short story and the short story collection apart from the novel? When a collection is linked, how is a “story” different from a “chapter”? What story-telling possibilities does this shorter form create? By the completion of this course, students will be able to offer answers to these questions and others through critical examination of both the form and the content of the short fiction genre.

This course will concentrate on teaching and developing critical reading and writing skills to serve as a foundation for students’ academic careers. In addition to examining the texts below, this course will introduce students to research-based essay writing at the university level, including library research, composition, and the fundamentals of rhetorically constructed argumentation.

Texts and readings:

Gaunce, Julia and Suzette Mayr, eds. The Broadview Anthology of Short Fiction 2nd ed.
King, Thomas. Medicine River.
Mistry, Rohinton. Tales from Firozsha Baag.
Saunders, George. CivilWarLand in Bad Decline.

Assignments and Evaluation: (See “Weekly Syllabus” for Assignment Deadlines)

In-class exercises	10%
2 in-class tests, worth 10% each	20%
Research Paper 1	20%
Research Paper 2	25%
Final Exam	25%

In-class exercises: Students will be expected to attend lecture regularly and will be required to participate in group discussion about the texts and concepts studied. Students will be assessed on their contribution to group discussion and in-class activities including short writing responses and informal debate. One in-class activity may include a library exercise designed to teach students to make use of the University of Calgary’s research library.

In-Class Tests: Will be worth 10% each and will measure student understanding of the texts studied. These tests will be multiple choice and short answer.

Research Papers: Students will write two 1000-1200 word (approx. 4-5 page) papers that will establish a concrete and arguable thesis based upon course readings and supplemented with original research. These papers will adhere to MLA format. MLA format and research methodology expectations will be addressed in lecture.

Final Exam: The final examination in this course will be scheduled by the Registrar. The examination period for the Fall 2013 term is December 9-19, 2013. Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period. The final exam will be a combination of short answer and essay-style questions and will be closed-book.

There are no extra-credit assignments. Students must complete all assignments in order to receive a passing grade on the course.

Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a third of a grade (an A- to B+) for each business day that the assignment is overdue.

Electronic Submissions will not be accepted.

Please make every effort to take assignments directly to the instructor. If it is not possible to do so, take your assignment to SS 1152 and put it in the dropbox. Your assignment will be date-stamped and placed in the instructor's mailbox. It is your responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause. Please note that you are responsible for ensuring that computer problems do not interfere with timely submission of work. Keep multiple backups of all your work, at different locations. (Emailing copies of your work in progress to yourself is one easy way to do this.) Computer issues will not be an acceptable reason for late submission. Assignments cannot be returned by staff in the Department office.

Grading system:

In this course, all essays, exams, and presentations will be marked on the University of Calgary's four-point Undergraduate Grading System, as described in the Calendar:

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-2.html>

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Tests will receive a numerical grade, to be converted using the following scale:

90 + %	A+	4.0
85 – 89 %	A	4.0
80 – 84 %	A–	3.7
77 – 79 %	B+	3.3
74 – 76 %	B	3.0
70 – 73 %	B–	2.7
67 – 69 %	C+	2.3
64 – 66 %	C	2.0

60 – 63 %	C–	1.7
55 – 59 %	D+	1.3
50 – 54 %	D	1.0
0 – 49 %	F	0

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the 4-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:
