ENGLISH 201-L11 Approaches to Literature

Winter 2017

COURSE TITLE: "Re-Playing the First World War in Contemporary Canadian Drama"

T/R 14:00-15:15 ICT 116

Instructor: Dr. Donna Coates

Office: SS1130

Phone: 403-220-4684

E-mail: dcoates@ucalgary.ca

Office hours: Thursday 12:30-1:30

Course description: This course examines how contemporary Canadian women and men playwrights have revisioned Canada's contribution to and participation in the First World War. It will emphasize fundamental skills such as how to write logically, clearly, and persuasively.

Texts and readings:

John Gray and Eric Peterson, Billy Bishop Goes to War

Donna Coates and Sherrill Grace, Canada and the Theatre of War: Volume 1

Trina Davies, Shattered

Wendy Lill, The Fighting Days

Assignments and Evaluation:

Submission of TWO mini-essays (400-600 words) on two plays (the instructor will choose the play for the first essay, but for the second essay, the students will have limited choice). 20% x 2=40%

Submission of ONE mini-essay to be written in class (750-800 words). For this assignment, the instructor will choose which play(s) the students will write on. 20%

Detailed requirements for these submissions, as well as the specific due dates, will be made available during the first week of class.

Students have TWO choices for 10% of their grade. They may choose to be part of a group presenting background information on relevant battles, military leaders, events, or issues raised within the texts (20 minutes' duration). For this assignment, students will submit a copy of their written presentation (which may be supplemented with audio/visual materials) prior to their talk (300-500 words). Alternatively, students may choose to work in groups and submit five questions to inspire class discussion (20 minutes' duration). For this assignment, students must also conduct research on the texts they have chosen to generate discussion on. They must submit their questions to the instructor prior to the discussion (300-500 words). The size of groups for these assignments and the number of questions depends upon enrollment. I will provide more specific details about these assignments, as well as due dates, during the first week of class.

10%

Final exam scheduled by the Registrar (on two plays, 1100 words; NOT open book). 30% 100%

- Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period (April 15-26).
- Students MUST complete all assignments in order to receive a passing grade in the course.
- Electronic submission of assignments is NOT permitted. Students will hand in written assignments (including information on group presentations and discussion questions) at the beginning of class. Failure to hand in any of these assignments at the beginning of class will incur late penalties of one letter grade per business day.
- Please note that you may ONLY use laptop computers in class ONLY to take notes or for class presentations.
- I will endeavor to respond to email inquiries in a timely fashion, but I will not go over information missed in class, nor will I discuss graded material over email. Please make an appointment to see me if you wish to discuss your group assignments, as well. Please also exchange contact information with a student in class early in the semester so that the student can take notes for you and pick up handouts or other relevant materials.
- Students will receive marked feedback on 40% of their final grade (provided students meet posted deadlines) by one week before the withdrawal date for half courses.

Please note that no assignments will be accepted one week past the assignment deadline without the prior consent of the instructor.

Please make every effort to take assignments directly to the instructor. If it is not possible to do so, take your assignment to SS 1152 and put it in the dropbox. Your assignment will be date-stamped and placed in the instructor's mailbox. It is your responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause. Staff in the Department Office will not return assignments.

The University of Calgary's four-point Undergraduate Grading System, as described in the Calendar (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-2.html>), will be used in this course.

A+/A (4.0); A- (3.7); B+ (3.3); B (3.0); B- (2.7); C+ (2.3); C (2.0); C- (1.7); D+ (1.3); D (1.0); F (0)

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality. Please also note that there is no D- grade.

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI):

"At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction (USRI) survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference - please participate in USRI Surveys."

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, (<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>) "The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, ..., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community". The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a "positive and productive learning and working environment." This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that "seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff". Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
