Course description: What is the significance of literary representation? Is there a politics in the choice of what is being represented? Should literature have a grand purpose? These basic questions will guide this course as we examine texts in multiple genres and from different regions. The course will emphasize fundamental skills: how to read a text accurately and critically; how to write logically, clearly, and correctly; how to listen and speak in a formal discussion.

Required Texts and Readings:

Lawn, Beverly. Short Stories: A Portable Anthology. Fifth edition. Boston: Bedford/St. Martin's, 2017. Some of these stories are:

- "The Story of an Hour"
- "Hills Like White Elephants"
- "The Handsomest Drowned Man in the World"
- "The Lesson"
- "Birdsong"
- "The Man to Send Rain Clouds"
- "Sonny's Blues"

Selected poems from David Lehman's anthology, Best of the Best American Poetry: 25th Anniversary Edition, made available on D2L.

Additional readings will be available via D2L or the TFDL website in open access editions.

Assignments and Evaluation:

Essay 1: 2000 words (25%)

Mid Term Exam (closed book) (15%)

Group Presentation (15%)

- There will be no formal written component; however, students are encouraged to submit evidence of work leading up to the presentation.

Participation (10%)

Registrar Scheduled Final Exam (closed book) (35%)

Class Participation 10% -- Marks will be awarded for the following:

1. Regular and quality submission of in-class assignments.
2. Active participation in discussions and group activities.
3. Successful participation in random quizzes and debates based on lecture material and the readings.
4. Initiative in bringing to the attention of the class relevant popular and academic information.
5. Ability to interact with the class in a professional and enthusiastic manner.

There will be a Registrar Scheduled Final Exam (closed book) in this course.

→ Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period (April 15-27).

All assignments must be completed in order to receive a passing grade on the course.

Late assignment policy: Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a third of a grade (an A- to B+) for each day [not class] that the assignment is overdue.

Assignments must be emailed as a Word document to the instructor at cjoseph@ucalgary.ca before midnight of the due date. The file name must be according to the following format: for example, LastnameFirstname_ENGL201Essay1_Feb7-2019. Students must always copy themselves on any assignment emailed to the instructor, and save the item until final results are received from the registrar's office. If in doubt of the procedure, it is the responsibility of the student to check with the instructor well in advance.

Grading system:

Actual numerical grades obtained, not their letter grade or percentage equivalent, will be used in calculating the final grade. Letter grades for assignments will be converted into numerical values using the scale below (at the instructor's discretion) in order to calculate the final course grade.

90 + %	A+
85 – 89 %	A
80 – 84 %	A–
77 – 79 %	B+
74 – 76 %	B
70 – 73 %	B–
67 – 69 %	C+
64 – 66 %	C
60 – 63 %	C–
55 – 59 %	D+

50 – 54 % D
0 – 49 % F

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html> “The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, ..., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
