

FACULTY OF ARTS
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH
COURSE OUTLINE

ENGLISH 309.01 LITERATURE AND THE ENVIRONMENT

Fall 2018

Professor: Dr. P. Banting

Classes: Tu/Th 2:00 to 3:15

Classroom: EDC 252

Office: Social Sciences Bldg (SS) 1010

Office hours: Th 3:30 to 4:30 (preferred mode of consultation with students)

Contact: (403) 220-5480; pbanting@ucalgary.ca (Monday to Friday 8:30 to 4:30)

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

An examination of the field of nature writing, environmental literature and ecological literary criticism.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

Cheryll Glotfelty and Harold Fromm, eds., The Ecocriticism Reader

Gary Snyder, The Practice of the Wild

J. B. MacKinnon and Alisa Smith, The 100-Mile Diet: A Year of Local Eating

Richard Wagamese, One Story, One Song

Sid Marty, The Black Grizzly of Whiskey Creek

Barbara Kingsolver, Flight Behavior

Leanne Allison, dir., Being Caribou (NFB film)

Jeff and Sue Turner, dir., The Edge of Eden (film)

ASSIGNMENT PORTFOLIO:

A reading journal: 40%

Your reading journal will be a twenty-page booklet or diary consisting of ten weekly two-page, typed, double-spaced journal entries correlated with the readings, lectures, classroom activities, field trips, and/or writing prompts for weeks 1 – 10 of the course, for a total of 20 full pages in 12-point font with 1” margins on all four sides of the page. Your journal will be submitted for marking twice. The first half will be due and collected at the beginning of the first class of week 6, and the entire journal (for weeks 1 – 10) is due on Nov 8th.

Mid-term test: 20%

Analytical essay (10 pp., typed, double-spaced): 20%

Final take-home examination: 20%

TOTAL 100%

IMPORTANT NOTES:

STUDENTS MUST COMPLETE AND SUBMIT ALL OF THE ABOVE ASSIGNMENTS IN ORDER TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR A PASSING GRADE IN THE COURSE.

Bonus credits. There will be ONE optional, extra-credit assignment (see note about Wordfest below) but there will not be opportunities to re-do and resubmit coursework for grade re-evaluation. That being said, if you need some guidance, help or advice with anything course-related, please do visit me in my office during my office hours or by appointment, and I will be very pleased to assist you.

Optional Bonus Credit: Attend the Wordfest event featuring the new novel, Starlight, by the late Richard Wagamese, author of our course text One Story, One Song, and write about your experience in a supplementary journal entry for 4%. Four percent is the difference between a final grade of 70% (B-) and 74% (B), for example, or between a 63% (C-) and a 67% (C+) or an 86% (A) and 90% (A+). Note that marks are not the point of this bonus credit. The purpose of this credit is to encourage you to attend at least one Wordfest event for the experience and pleasure of doing so and for the exposure to an additional book by Richard Wagamese, one of Canada's finest writers, and to indigenous literature. (You may have seen the movie Indian Horse this past year. That film is based on Wagamese's novel of that title.)

You will need to go to the Wordfest website to order a ticket:

<https://wordfest.com/speaker/richard-wagamese/>

Tickets go on sale Aug. 27th and won't last forever so if you think you'd like to attend, reserve a ticket ASAP. If you cannot get to the Wagamese event, you may substitute one of the following events/writers: Katharena Vermette, Waubeshig Rice, Tanya Tagaq, Tommy Orange, or Joshua Whitehead. But the text on our course is by Richard Wagamese so please try first to get a ticket to that one.

The entire Wordfest lineup is here: https://wordfest.com/2018-festival-authors/?mc\_cid=127db2250c&mc\_cid=65bc1f8cfb

Grammar, punctuation and style will be assessed with respect to all assignments during the course, not just specific assignments.

Manual: If you already have a university-level grammar, style and punctuation manual, great. You need not buy a new or a specific one, but if you don't have one the The Broadview Pocket Guide to Writing, is very good and is one of the least expensive on the market. It is also published here in Calgary so you will be shopping locally if you purchase this one. You may wish to check the second-hand bookstore as well. Any relatively recent manual will contain more or less the same information. Just make sure the one you choose includes a section on MLA (Modern Language Association) style. Whichever manual you choose will serve your needs throughout your degree and beyond into your jobs and careers. English literature students may prefer to purchase the MLA Handbook but I don't require it.

Active learning: This course will be conducted as a mixture of lecture, class and small-group discussion, group work, field work, and other forms of learning. A combination of various learning activities provides better absorption and integration of materials and stimulates further thought. Group discussion or group activities of any kind are not time fillers. Respectful participation in all such activities, not just lectures, is compulsory. An important part of intellectual work is being able to speak about it with others. In short, students will be expected to assume the role of active participants in the co-construction and dissemination of knowledge rather than that of merely passive consumers of it. This includes participation in discussion and other credit-free assignments and activities carried out during class time.

Regular, committed attendance of classes, taking extensive notes, and studying are all essential to learning.

Final exams in general: As per university regulations, students must be available for examinations up to and including the last day of the examination period (which is December 10 – 20, 2018). There is no registrar-scheduled exam in this course, but your take-home exam will be due shortly after classes end. See the class/reading schedule for due dates.

Please download from D2L and save to your own computer both 1) this course syllabus and 2) the class and reading schedule for easy reference throughout the term and so that you can access it at any time. Consult the class and reading schedule weekly so that you know what text(s) to bring to class each week and when assignments are due. You do not need to bring all of the course texts to each class, just the one(s) we are studying that class.

Tests: Anything and everything we study in the course and for which you are responsible outside of class (e.g., completing the reading of the texts and the watching of videos and films, etc.) may be test material.

Terminology: Only booklength works of fiction are called novels. Novels are works of the imagination. Works of nonfiction are not fiction: therefore they are not novels. You can call them nonfiction, literary nonfiction, creative nonfiction, or you can refer to them as books or texts. Genre is key to the reading and accurate comprehension of texts. In other words, the word “novel” is not synonymous with “book.”

Formatting: All written assignments must be double-spaced in 12-point font with 1” margins on all four sides of the page. Times New Roman is the default font for work in English literature, though you can use another easily readable font. Note that “fun fonts” do not make your work appear serious or professional.

Late penalties will be deducted for late assignments. Late penalties can and sometimes do result in a failing grade on an assignment so students will want to start assignments well in advance of any due date. The late penalty for assignments is one mark per day late. That is, if an assignment merits a 20/25 (80%, A-) but comes in two days late, the mark will drop two marks to 18/25 (76%, B). This measure is in place in order to ensure a level playing field for everyone in the course and to facilitate timely completion both of your assignments and my marking. Timely completion is made possible by starting your assignments well in advance of their respective due dates: this also tends to create a better quality of work.

Attendance: A strong commitment to class attendance, completing the assigned readings in advance of the class for which they are scheduled, avidly participating in your own and others' learning, demonstrating respectful, accountable and open intellectual engagement with the course materials and with fellow students and the professor are very important components of learning. Think of a course as a community, a group of living, breathing, thinking, responding, feeling, knowledge-creating beings not unlike you. A course is a kind of workplace or think tank, in effect. Intermittent attendance (more than a couple of absences per term) always results in losing one's place in terms of the material and the others in the course and in lower grades.

Taking notes: Recent research studies have shown that handwritten class notes are markedly superior in terms of acquiring a more thorough understanding of course material and for retention of material in one's memory.

Along similar lines, I highly recommend that you annotate and underline the course texts (preferably in paper, but you can annotate in ebook and electronic articles in formats such as the Kindle application). Don't try to preserve pristine copies of your books for resale to other students who will underline and annotate and therefore probably do better than you did in the course! Underlining and annotating in the margins are the best ways of acquiring and consolidating your knowledge of textual material. 'Make tracks' in your text (though not, of course, in any library books ever) and you will be far more likely to take ownership of the knowledge we will be co-creating in the classroom. It is also vastly more efficient when it is time to study for a test to study your annotations and underlining in the text.

Technology: The instructor reserves the right to outlaw the use of phones, tablets, computers, or other distractions in class. Surfing the web, checking email or social media, taking calls or texting during class is strictly forbidden!! Moreover, taking calls or texting by leaving the classroom is not allowed either. Such behaviour is far more disruptive and distracting to you, the people near you and the professor than you probably imagine.

Bring the text(s) of the day/week to class. Please do not attempt to read the assigned materials on your phone! You cannot possibly ingest the texts on a screen as small as that of most phones. (No, you cannot.) We are not studying literary texts simply in order to extract "the main idea" or "the general drift" of a text! Quite the opposite. We will be focussing on what is actually on the page. For the same reason, you MUST bring the assigned reading(s) of the day to class. If you don't bring the text of the day to class, you are completely missing the point of literary studies, close textual analysis.

Double-sided printing of assignments is very highly encouraged in order to save paper and trees. Please feel free to use factory-recycled paper or even paper that has already been used on one side only. This is not only permissible but admirable. Just draw a line diagonally through material printed or written on the "wrong" side and make sure your pages are stapled in order as you would for any assignment. Your grade will NOT suffer if you use recycled or previously used paper.

No folders necessary. Please DO NOT use any plastic cover sheets for your assignments. They have an annoying tendency to flap shut while one is trying to read and mark them, and using plastic contributes to waste, chemical pollution and the generation of even more carbon. Just a simple staple in the upper left-hand corner of the assignment is perfect. Please staple (or clamp, if you prefer) your work before handing it in. I do not normally carry a stapler with me to and from class nor is there likely to be one in the classroom. Handing in unfastened work increases the chances of loss of your work, late penalties, etc., and paper clips often grab onto and attach to other papers in a pile of papers and cause havoc.

Submission of assignments. Written assignments are due at the beginning of class on their respective due dates, and they must be physically handed to the instructor. At this point, I cannot accept electronic submissions (which is too bad as it would save paper and trees) because they are just too hard on the eyes. If you absolutely cannot hand me your work in class, then do not shove your professional work under my (or anyone else's) office door. It can and does get trampled and muddied, lost, put under the wrong professor's door, discarded, etc. Instead, if you must, hand them in via the English Dept. office between 8:30 and 4:30 (the office is closed from 12:00 to 1:00) or outside regular business hours via the wooden Essay Drop Box just outside the English Department office. Assignments are date-stamped by the office staff at about 4:00 so if you have a strict deadline you should submit your work before 4:00. NOTE: The English Office is on the 11th floor of the Social Sciences Bldg. But if you hand your work directly to me, you avoid all these complexities.

Feedback. For each of your written assignments, I will give you editorial feedback on how you can improve the quality of your work. It is expected that you address any such deficiencies, errors or infelicities – or even if your writing is very good, you can always improve along the lines I highlight – prior to submitting your next assignment. (In other words, you don't want to make the same errors, infelicities or omissions over and over.) To that end, I may ask you to submit both your new assignment and the previous (marked and graded) one with all its comments so that I can note and acknowledge any improvements / progress so please save your marked assignments. Do not recycle them.

Grading system:

The Desire 2 Learn (D2L) system keeps a running total of your marks, and your final grade will simply be the letter grade corresponding to the accumulated number of marks you have earned in your assignments by the end of the course. You yourself can also, of course, keep your own running total by saving your graded and returned assignments and adding up the marks you earn. The standard table below correlates percentages with letter grades and GPAs. This grading scale is standard across the Department.

Please note that, according to the University Calendar (F.1), instructors may use their discretion when rounding upwards or downwards when the average of term work and exams is between two letter grades.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the 4-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

|           |    |     |
|-----------|----|-----|
| 90 + %    | A+ | 4.0 |
| 85 – 89 % | A  | 4.0 |
| 80 – 84 % | A– | 3.7 |
| 77 – 79 % | B+ | 3.3 |
| 74 – 76 % | B  | 3.0 |
| 70 – 73 % | B– | 2.7 |
| 67 – 69 % | C+ | 2.3 |
| 64 – 66 % | C  | 2.0 |
| 60 – 63 % | C– | 1.7 |
| 55 – 59 % | D+ | 1.3 |
| 50 – 54 % | D  | 1.0 |
| 0 – 49 %  | F  | 0   |

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

Your responses make a difference - please participate in USRI Surveys."

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:
  - (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),

(b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,

(c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,

(d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar,

<http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, . . ., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
