ENGLISH 399 L02
FALL 2013

COURSE TITLE: Detective Fiction

Instructor: Dr. Roberta Jackson

Office: SS 1104

Office hours: MWF 14:00-15:00

Phone: 403 220-4674

E-mail: rjackson@ucalgary.ca

Course description:

This course introduces students to the study of detective fiction. On the successful completion of this course, you will be able to offer a thoughtful and informed critical response to examples of this genre. You will also be able to document your sources accurately, and, by the end of the course you should be able to write with more skill and confidence, which will prepare you for your future studies. There are no pre-requisites.

Texts and readings:

Christie, Agatha The Mysterious Affair at Styles

The Wire: The Complete First Season (DVD)

A course pack of selected short fiction

Assignments and evaluation:

1 midterm examination (critical writing) worth 30% of your final grade

1 abstract in preparation for the final essay worth 10% of your final grade

1 critical essay of 2,000-2,500 words worth 30% of your final grade

1 registrar-scheduled final examination worth 30% of your final grade

Please note the following:

- The final day to drop classes with permission is December 6th.
- Your final examination is not an open-book examination, and the final examination period is between the 9th and the 19th of December.
- Students must be available for examinations up to the last day of the examination period.
- There are no extra-credit assignments.
- You must complete all assignments in order to receive a passing grade in the course.
- Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a third of a grade (for example, an A- to a B+) for each business day that the assignment is overdue.
- Please make every effort to take assignments directly to the instructor. If it is not possible to do so, take your assignment to SS 1152 and put it in the dropbox. Your assignment will be date-stamped and placed in the instructor's mailbox. It is your responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss for any reason. Assignments cannot be returned by staff in the Department office.

Grading system:

Each of your assignments will receive a percentage value. The final grade will be calculated by multiplying each value by the weighting given to the assignment. Next, these values will be added together to arrive at a final percentage, which will then be converted to a letter grade following the values displayed below.

90+%	A+	4.0	67-69%	C+	2.3
85-89%	A	4.0	64-66%	C	2.0
80-84%	A-	3.7	60-63%	C-	1.7
77-79%	B+	3.3	55-59%	D+	1.3
74-76%	B	3.0	50-54%	D	1.0
70-73%	B-	2.7	0-49%	F	0

Please note the following:

- The interpretation of the undergraduate university grading system can be found at <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/f-2.html>
- There is no D- grade.
- Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.
- Computers, calculators or other electronic devices may not be used during exams.

Plagiarism:

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement below on plagiarism.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:

1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:

- (a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
- (b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
- (c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
- (d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student's work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites: <http://www.dianahacker.com/resdoc/>

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar, <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/j.html>) "The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, ..., to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community". The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a "positive and productive learning and working environment." This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that "seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff". Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
