Course description: What is an author? Should literature serve society? What does a text mean? These questions point to fundamental issues -- of authorship, activism, and interpretation. This course studies primary sources, i.e., original writing by major thinkers such as Hall, Mbembe, Parry, and Spivak, and literary texts of diverse genres, to arrive at an understanding of terms and contexts that will equip the student to embark on a serious project in literary studies. A committed student in this course can also effectively develop a high quality and sophisticated proposal based on this course for future and higher studies.

Required Texts:

A course pack of readings available on D2L that includes the following:

- Mabie, Joshua. “The field is ripe: Christian literary scholarship, postcolonial ecocriticism, and environmentalism.”
- Nixon, Rob. “Slow Violence; Literary and postcolonial studies have ignored the environmentalism that often only the poor can see.”
- Parry, Benita. “The Futures Past of Internationalism.”
- Potter, Lucy. “Postcolonial resources, pedagogical resistance: An energy-driven interview with Professor Jennifer Wenzel.”

Midgley, Peter. Let Us Not Think of Them as Barbarians. Edmonton: NeWest Press, 2019

Additional readings may be assigned based on student projects developed in class. All such readings will be available through the university’s library system.

Assignments and Evaluation:
Essay One (1200 word) 25%
Essay Two (2500 words) 45%
Presentation – 20% (There will be no formal written component; however, students are encouraged to submit evidence of work leading up to the presentation)
Participation (10%)

Participation:
This course provides opportunities for in-class and online participation. This means, if you don’t believe you have contributed sufficiently in in-class discussions, you can complement with online discussions. Marks will be awarded for the following:
1. Evidence of a deep understanding of assigned readings.
2. Taking intelligible notes during lectures and discussions.
3. Regular and quality submission of in-class assignments.
4. Active and quality participation in discussions and group activities whether in-class or online.
5. Successful participation in random write-ups, quizzes, and debates based on lecture material and the readings.
6. Initiative in bringing to the attention of the class relevant popular and academic information.
7. Ability to interact with the class in a professional and positive manner.

NOTE:
All assignments must be completed to receive a passing grade on the course.

There will not be a Registrar Scheduled Exam in this course.

Late assignment policy: Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized (with the loss of a third of a grade (an A- to B+) for each business day [not class] that the assignment is overdue. Assignments must be emailed as a Word document to the instructor at cjoseph@ucalgary.ca before the midnight of the due date. The file name must be according to the following format: for example, LastnameFirstname_ENGL517EssayOne_Feb1-2020. Students must always copy (cc) themselves on any assignment emailed to the instructor, and save the item until final results are received from the registrar’s office.

If in doubt of these procedures, it is the responsibility of the student to check with the instructor in advance of the due date.

DO NOT SEND THE ASSIGNMENT TO OR VIA D2L. DO NOT SUBMIT THE ASSIGNMENT IN HARDCOPY EITHER TO THE INSTRUCTOR OR THE DEPARTMENT OFFICE.
Grading system:

90 + %  A+
85 – 89 %  A
80 – 84 %  A–
77 – 79 %  B+
74 – 76 %  B
70 – 73 %  B–
67 – 69 %  C+
64 – 66 %  C
60 – 63 %  C–
55 – 59 %  D+
50 – 54 %  D
0 – 49 %  F

Actual numerical grades obtained, not their letter grade or percentage equivalent, will be used in calculating the final grade. Letter grades for assignments will be converted into numerical values using the scale below (at the instructor's discretion) in order to calculate the final course grade.

Although the A+ is solely an honorific that entails no additional points in the four-point system, the course instructor will employ this mark to distinguish superlative work that exceeds expectations in style, correctness, intellectual depth and breadth, sophistication, and originality.

Plagiarism:
Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. PLAGIARISM
Plagiarism is an extremely serious offence. Please read the following information carefully. The penalty routinely recommended by the English Department for documented plagiarism is failure of the course in which the offence occurred; academic probation is also routinely applied at the Faculty level. Suspension or expulsion can result from severe or repeated plagiarism.

The University Calendar states:
1. Plagiarism - Essentially plagiarism involves submitting or presenting work in a course as if it were the student's own work done expressly for that particular course when, in fact, it is not. Most commonly plagiarism exists when:
   a) the work submitted or presented was done, in whole or in part, by an individual other than the one submitting or presenting the work (this includes having another impersonate the student or otherwise substituting the work of another for one's own in an examination or test),
   b) parts of the work are taken from another source without reference to the original author,
   c) the whole work (e.g., an essay) is copied from another source, and/or,
d) a student submits or presents work in one course which has also been submitted in another course (although it may be completely original with that student) without the knowledge of or prior agreement of the instructor involved.

While it is recognized that scholarly work often involves reference to the ideas, data and conclusions of other scholars, intellectual honesty requires that such references be explicitly and clearly noted.

Plagiarism occurs when direct quotations are taken from a source without specific acknowledgement, or when original ideas or data from the source are not acknowledged. Citing your sources in a bibliography is not enough, because a bibliography does not establish which parts of a student’s work are taken from other sources. MLA (Modern Language Association) documentation or other recognized forms of citation must be used for this purpose. Advice on adequate documentation can be found at the following web sites:

http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/01/

Students who are absent from class assessments (tests, participation activities, or other assignments) should inform their instructors as soon as possible. Instructors may request that evidence in the form of documentation be provided. If the reason provided for the absence is acceptable, instructors may decide that any arrangements made can take forms other than make-up tests or assignments. For example, the weight of a missed grade may be added to another assignment or test. For information on possible forms of documentation, including statutory declarations, please see https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/m-1.html.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH STATEMENT ON PRINCIPLES OF CONDUCT

According to the University Calendar; https://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k-2.html

“The University of Calgary community has undertaken to be guided by the following statements of purpose and values: to promote free inquiry and debate, to act as a community of scholars, …, to respect, appreciate, and encourage diversity, [and] to display care and concern for community”. The Department of English, like the university as a whole, is committed to a “positive and productive learning and working environment.” This environment is characterized by appreciation and encouragement of diversity and respect for the dignity of all persons: students, support staff, and faculty. The department will not tolerate unacceptable behaviour, such as threatening gestures, threatening or abusive verbal or written communication (including e-mails), or any conduct that “seriously disrupts the lawful education and related activities of students and/or university staff”. Any cases of such misconduct should be reported immediately to the department Head, who, depending on the nature and severity of the incident, may then take further appropriate action.
